professional caring agency

Live-in care

A guide to the services we provide to help you enjoy living at home with independence and control.

Welcome

A 'whole person' approach to care

As the Registered Manager of Spring Care Services, it is my great pleasure to thank you for considering us as your provider of home care and support.

By applying rigorous professional standards with kindness and attention to individual likes and dislikes, we help our clients to look forward to each new day with enthusiasm. You may have that enthusiasm already, as many do. For others, rediscovering and nurturing it can be their greatest challenge. We know that it often proves central to achieving our primary objective, which is to enable those in our care to enjoy living in their own home, for as long as they wish, with dignity, independence and control.

Our approach takes your broader wishes and hopes into account, as well as your physical needs. This is why the care plans we create often include things like listening to music, or visits to garden centres and friends, as well as, say, help with bathing and housekeeping. It's also why our care plans are drawn up only through detailed discussion with you and, should you wish, others whom you trust, such as your doctor and members of your family.

We want our clients to enjoy life, free of the concerns which our 'whole person' approach to care and support can alleviate. To discuss what this could mean for you, please contact me or any member of the Spring Care Services team.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Services

Facilitating dignity and independence

Spring Care Services was established to provide clients with the highest quality home care and support possible to facilitate people living in their own homes with dignity, independence and control over how they live their lives. To achieve this, we offer clients a range of services designed to meet both general and specialist care and support needs.

Home Care service

For some people the reassurance and companionship gained from having one of our care team members visit for a few hours a day to assist around the house will be enough. For others, more intensive 24 hour care will be required on either a live-in or live-out basis. Regardless of the level of need required, our team will work with you to design a service package that will enable you or your loved one to live life, at home, to the full.

Day care

To ensure continuity and the building of genuine relationships, our provision of care comes at a minimum of 4 consecutive hours. This and additional hourly support can be arranged for any time you need it – including weekends and holidays.

Night care

Some people choose to have nightly support on a sleep-in or waking night basis. This may be suitable for someone who is worried at night and needs the reassurance of a friendly face or it may be for the provision of overnight personal care. We can offer a flexible nightly support package to meet your needs.

Live-in care

For clients requiring full time care, a live-in care arrangement can sometimes be the best option. Live-in care offers the reassurance of full time support and companionship without leaving the comfort of your own home, familiar surroundings and your friendly neighbours.

Respite care

Our respite care service provides temporary relief to anyone caring for a loved one. We can also provide hospital to home support eg re-enablement. We understand the value of short breaks, holidays and respite for both people receiving care and their families.

We match carers to your medical needs and personal preferences.

Personal Assistance and Companionship Support

We understand that care is so much more than bathing and medication. That's why the team at Spring Care Services offers a Personal Assistance package. This package is for individuals who may not need personal care but wish to have support with hobbies, interests or correspondence.

Our Mission Statement

Our Mission Statement is where we state what our objectives are, as a care provider. All members of the management team contributed to the development of this statement and it is against this that we judge the quality and success of everything we do.

We believe that with the right care and support created in partnership with the individual requiring our services, we can enable everyone to live a fulfilled life which is not just a set of care provision but a true enhancement to the wellbeing and quality of life of the individual.

Our aims and objectives

These are:

Putting it into practice

From new enquiries to on-going reviews

Our care and service managers take overall responsibility for coordinating support requests and new service referrals. They are responsible for organising care packages, communicating with other healthcare professionals, and keeping abreast of legislative changes in the sector.

How is a new care package assessed?

A care services manager will arrange a convenient time to visit a client in their home for an initial care assessment, free of charge.

This holistic assessment normally takes around 1 hour and includes a full risk assessment to ensure the safety and wellbeing of both the client and the team member.

For clients returning home after a hospital discharge a manager can visit both the hospital ward and the client's home.

What happens when care begins?

Once the initial care assessment is completed, a care plan will be created that is entirely unique to the client's needs, preferences and culture to ensure the service provided is holistic and person centred.

Our care team will then identify the care team member/s with relevant skills, training, availability and of course, personality.

If preferred, the selected care team member/s will be introduced to the client prior to any care or support taking place.

When the client is happy with the care team member/s selected, support will begin. Our clients should then expect to receive a call within 24 hours to check how the first shift went.

Thereafter, regular calls or visits will take place depending on a client's level of needs, to monitor the early stages of support.

How is care monitored, reassessed and reviewed?

On-going care is overseen by a dedicated manager.

A full service review will take place at least annually, however, if a client's needs change frequently, a full review of their care will take place sooner.

In the event that a client or their representative has any problems or concerns with the service being provided, we have a clear and efficient complaints procedure in place and a senior member of our team will help you through the process if you wish. In the first instance however, discussing any issues that arise with the manager responsible for their care may well enable a speedy resolution.

On-going care is monitored by a team of care managers through thorough auditing processes.

How do we work with other professionals?

Many clients will have other clinicians and professionals working with them to help support their medical, social and psychological care needs. During assessments and reviews we will document if any other professionals are working with the client, and write to their GP to make them aware of the care we are providing.

We always ask for your consent prior to sharing any information with other professionals.

It may often be the case that our managers and care team identify that a client would benefit from specialist support i.e. from physiotherapy or occupational therapy. In this instance the manager would advise you and support you to make the referral where necessary.

Keeping in touch

NurseBuddy is a software system that enables us to remotely schedule Carers, track their location and monitor start and end time for client visits. The family portal allows families to access information about their loved ones, such as visit times, who visited, tasks completed and general welfare of their family member. This allows for complete transparency with the care provision and provides peace of mind for the family member as the portal can be accessed 24 hours a day.

We document all aspects of your care and, with your consent, can share this with your doctor.

Rigorous professionalism

Keeping our team up to date

Our professional and personalised in-house training is outstanding in the care sector. We train all team members to the highest standards in person-centred home care but also to meet your specific requirements.

Our training team have designed and implemented a Care Certificate process that has truly surpassed this training requirement.

The Care Certificate is broken up into four key steps:

- A classroom-based induction
- Workbook assignments with optional mentoring
- A work based support visit
- A one-to-one reflection and facilitation

*A work based support visit involves observing a new team member in their work place. Where appropriate, your care team member/s will liaise with you to arrange a mutually agreed time for this visit to occur.
